DETAILED ACTION

Election of Species

1. Applicants are required to elect a single disclosed species from claims 1, 2, 5, and 6. The conjugate invention contains different structures with different variables. These structures are different due to these different variables. Search for a structure with  $R = H$  will not lead to a structure with  $R = \text{a sugar}$ . The method of use of the compound contains different functions that the conjugate may perform. The functions are distinct and independent due to the processes that are required in the function. For example, wound healing requires connective tissues and proteins to adhere and proliferate to close the wound. Treating tumors may not require connective tissues to adhere and proliferate. There would be a burdensome search on the examiner if restriction and election of species is not required.

2. This application contains claims directed to more than one species of the generic invention. These species are deemed to lack unity of invention because they are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

The species are as follows:

Variable  $R_1$ ,  $R_2$ ,  $Y$ ,  $R_3$ ,  $X$ ,  $R$ , polymeric radical  $R_3$ , radicals  $R_1, 2$ .

A bisacyloxypropylcysteine conjugate that the compound is a S-[2,3-bis(acyloxy)-(2S)-propyl]-L-cysteineylcarboxypolyethylene glycol and a S-[2,3-bis(palmitoyloxy)-(2R)-propyl]-L-cysteineylcarboxypolyethylene glycol.

Different functions of the conjugate.

Applicants are required, in reply to this action, to elect a single species to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. The reply must also identify the claims readable on the elected species, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered non-responsive unless accompanied by an election.

Art Unit: 1654

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which are written in dependent form or otherwise include all the limitations of an allowed generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).

3. The claims are deemed to correspond to the species listed above in the following manner:

Claims 1, 2, 5, 6, 9 and 10.

The following claim(s) are generic: NONE.

4. The species listed above do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, the species lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons: The different variables in the claim make the structures patentably distinct due to structural differences. The two bisacyloxypropylcysteine conjugates are distinct due to structure. The search for palmitoyloxy will not necessarily lead to acyloxy compounds. The uses for the conjugates are distinct. For example, search for wound healing would not lead to treatment in connection with tumors.

5. A telephone call was made to Mr. Michael Whitham on October 20, 2006 to request an oral election to the above restriction requirement, but did not result in an election being made.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of a species or invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected invention.

The election of an invention or species may be made with or without traverse. To reserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse.

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the inventions or species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the inventions or species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C.103(a) of the other invention.

6. Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).
